Below is an interactive Google map starting from the toll booths at the intersection of I-95 and I-90 near Boston:

The overview is that you will go West on I-90, take I-87 around Albany and rejoin I-90 on the West side. You'll take I-88 to Binghamton at exit 25a. Near Binghamton you'll get on I-81 North, get off at Whitney Point, then take Route 79 West all the way to Ithaca. On the far side of Ithaca you'll pick up Route 89 North along the West shore of Cayuga lake, and then you'll take a private driveway and you're there!

One hint about I-88: there are not a lot of services conveniently placed along the route. There are a couple of rest areas, but the restaurants are a good way off the highway. Your best bet is Exit 15 in Oneonta, where there's lots of fast food and gas immediately to the south of the exit.

Note: for printing, it's best to go to the larger map with the turn-by-turn directions and print from there, or if you prefer the PDF version of this page.

When you hit the city limits on the East side of Ithaca, here are the directions:

- Head northwest on NY-79/E State St for 1.9 mi
- Turn right at N Meadow St/NY-13/NY-34/NY-96, go one block and get in the left lane
- Turn left at W Buffalo St/NY-89/NY-96, go through one light, then over the railroad tracks
- Turn right at the second light, NY-89/Taughannock Blvd go North for 8.2 mi

You'll see a "Scenic Byway" sign on the right:

Slow down, you're almost at our driveway, which is on the right after the second guardrail and just before the third guardrail following the Byway sign. There is a large "L" in red reflectors on our mailbox post on the left side of the road just before driveway. There's a sign with "1651 & 5 Littauer/Kerby" on it near the guardrail at the top of the driveway. For those GP coordinates are 42.53839N, 76.58938W, altitude 480 feet, although most maps know about 1651 Taughannock Blvd, too.

When you turn into the driveway, please go very slowly, the driveway gets very steep, very quickly!

If you get to Taughannock Park, you've gone about a half mile too far. Turn around and come back, turning into the driveway immediately on the left after Westwind on the right. There are two vertical yellow reflective strips that mark the far end of the driveway when you are coming from the North.
